Chinese Cyberwar Policy
Elizabeth Van Wie Davis is a Professor focusing on Chinese domestic, foreign, and defense policies at the Colorado School of Mines, who previously was a Professor of Regional Studies at the Asia Pacific Center for Security Studies as well as the Fei Yi-Ming Professor of Politics of the Johns Hopkins University’s, SAIS Center in Nanjing, China. Her fifth book is on cyber policy.

The Three Gorges Dam: What Americans Don’t Know
Carl Mitcham is HASS Professor Emeritus and International Professor of the Philosophy of Technology at Renmin University of China (Beijing). His most recent book is an edited volume, Philosophy of Engineering, East and West. (2018).

The Many Rises of China in Modern Times
Timothy B. Weston is Associate Professor of Modern Chinese History at CU Boulder. His scholarship primarily focuses on political culture, revolution, and media in modern China. He is currently writing a book on the early history (19th and early 20th c.) of Chinese journalism and its role in the rise of the modern communications system in China.

The Professional Formation of Confucian Engineers
Qin Zhu is a Research Assistant Professor in the HASS Division at the Colorado School of Mines. His main research interest include the cultural foundations of engineering ethics, global engineering education, and ethics and policy of emerging technologies such as robotics.

Reemerging China: Implications for Global and Local Technology

Monday, October 22nd, 2018
5:00-6:15pm
Ben Parker Student Center, Ballroom C

Four leading experts on China discuss the implications of the great power’s return to the global stage and what it means for scientists and engineers in the coming decades.

Co-sponsored by Global Politics & Society Minor